Table of contents

The rules on this page apply to all figures you hand in: those in the milestone reports as well as those in the final colloquium presentation.

Each figure must contain the following:

- Labels of all axes must have units (unless the property is dimensionless)
- If there is more than one curve, the plot needs a legend
- If there is more than one display panel, it should have a category (a), (b), (c), etc.

We subtract points if these rules are violated. There are more hints on style in the above example figure.
